

Catherine Boyd

Catherine has been involved in professional regulation for many years. Currently she chairs tribunals for the Health and Care Professions Tribunal Service and is a member of the HCPC's Tribunal Advisory Committee. She is Chair of the ICAEW Insolvency Licensing Committee. She is a magistrate and Deputy Chair of Governors for a large school. Catherine is Director of Axient Consulting Ltd.

Previously Catherine chaired fitness to practise / conduct committees for the General Medical Council, the General Chiropractic Council and for the National College for Teaching and Leadership.

Catherine has had a number of lay roles relating to medical education; including advising on curriculum developments and appointing junior doctors. Catherine was also a member of the Department of Health's Independent Investigations Governance Committee designed to ensure recommendations and actions arising from mental health homicides are applied.

She was a member of the Independent Ethics Committee, advising Greater Manchester's Police & Crime Commissioner and GMP and was part of External Reference Group overseeing the reform of GMP's Professional Standards Branch.

Catherine's earlier career included management roles with Marks & Spencer and for consultancies. She also held roles in higher education, primarily working in faculty administration and in cross-sector/cross-institution widening participation initiatives.

She is a Fellow of the Chartered Management Institute and Chartered Manager.