For professional audiences

Share your views on the GPhC's equality, diversity and inclusion strategy

The General Pharmaceutical Council (GPhC) is consulting on a draft strategy for how they will deliver equality, improve diversity and foster inclusion. This consultation is open until 12 July 2021.

The five-year strategy sets out how the GPhC will proactively use their regulatory influence and levers to tackle discrimination within pharmacy and support the reduction of health inequalities for patients and the public.

The strategy also includes how the GPhC intends to:

- support pharmacy professionals in providing person-centred care that recognises and respects diversity and cultural differences
- reflect a wider range of voices and lived experiences of stakeholders in everything that they do

For patient and public audiences

Share your views on equality, diversity and inclusion in pharmacy

The General Pharmaceutical Council (GPhC) is the regulator for pharmacists, pharmacy technicians and pharmacies in Great Britain. They make sure people receive safe and effective care when using pharmacy services.

The GPhC wants to hear from patients, carers, users of pharmacy services and the public on their plans for delivering equality, improving diversity and fostering inclusion. They have written a draft five-year strategy which sets out how they will:

- proactively use their regulatory influence to tackle discrimination within pharmacy and support the reduction of health inequalities for patients and the public
- reflect a wider range of voices and lived experiences of people in everything that they do
- support pharmacy professionals in providing person-centred care that recognises and respects diversity and cultural differences
