Name: Lyn Hanning

Team member

Job title: Director of Practice Based Learning and Head of Pharmacy Practice, University of Bath

Lyn graduated from the University of Bath in 1992 and completed her pre-registration training and a residency at hospitals in the North West. She completed her MSc at the University of Manchester and then spent 6 years as a specialist pharmacist in palliative care. Following this she moved to a clinical academic role setting up the Clinical Tutor programme at the University of Manchester delivering new models of practice based learning to MPharm students. Lyn moved to the South West in 2002 and was the regional lead for the NHS Pre-registration training programme, set up the new Postgraduate Diploma at the University of Bath and also had a period of time leading the Independent Prescribing programme. She has a wide range of experience across the continuum of the pharmacist career pathway from design and delivery to quality assurance and strategic policy setting.

Since 2014, her work has focussed on curriculum design and delivery of practice based elements of the MPharm at Bath. Lyn's research interests focus on the development of skills and competence for the pharmacy workforce and in particular the role of Entrustable Professional Activities (EPAs) to support pharmacy students on placements. Lyn has been an external examiner for both undergraduate and postgraduate pharmacy programmes and is a Senior Fellow of the Higher Education Academy. Lyn was awarded an Advance HE National Teaching Fellowship in 2022 for her work in pharmacy education. Lyn is currently leading a project to deliver the Bath MPharm at the University of Plymouth with a first intake of students in 2024.
